

Since Indiana's "Do Not Call" law went into effect, those annoying unsolicited sales calls have completely stopped. I am no longer disturbed at dinnertime, nor do I have to drop everything three or four times each day (sometimes more) to answer a call from someone offering goods or services I have no interest in or need for. PLEASE DO NOT ALLOW THIS LAW TO BE WEAKENED! As a matter of personal policy I will never do business with anyone who calls me this way. Why should I be subjected to the inconvenience and nuisance of all these calls again? Thanks for considering my concern as you make your decision in this matter.
